MOSE EXTRAORDINARY SUCCESS.—Although the public press in New York has been literally inundated with certificates, affidevits, and letters, proving the extraordinary and never (ailing success of COHEN'S EM. SHOCATION, in cases of Rheurastlem, sprains, lumbago, &c. yet it may not be amiss—for the sake of strangers who visit the city, and others who bave not read the various test.monials published in the Sunday Morning News and other papers—occasionally to exhibit additional evidences of the pre-eminent worth of this most valuable of all medical preparations. If necessary over one hundred new testimonials, received by Dr. Cohen since the former publications, could now be given, but the following is of itself so strong, explicit, and direct to the purpose, that it cannot fail of satisfying all, (if any there now be f) whe may yet doubt the astonishing properties of this celebrated Lotion.

Doctor M. B. Cohen:—Sir—Convinced that it is a duty I owe to the public, as well as to yourself individually, to express my acknowledgements of the great benefits I bave received from the use of your Rheumstle Linement, I hasten to do so at the first opportunity that presents itself. Very few persons, if any, have suffered more from Rheumstland that it is a duty I did, a short time since, when by the advice of a friend, to whom the celebrity of your Embreation was known. I proeured a bottle, and was shortly afterwards relieved from my tortures, and restored to perfect health. At the time of my first sending to you. I had been crippled with reumatism for nearly two mooths, four or five weeks of which I could not walk without crutches and was in fact using them when I began to apply the Lotion. Thanks to its good properties, and to your inventive genius. I was entirely cured before I used one bottle, (having part of it yet left.) and have had no return of the malady since. I cannot hesitate, under circumstances so palpable and strong, to give your Embrocation the strongest recommendation that I san capable of, the more especially if, by so deing, I can prevail upon any of my fellow ciuzens here or else where, who may be suffering from Rheumstism, to give it a trist.

WAPOR BATHS.

THE OLD ESTABLISHED MEDICATED VAPOR SATHS.

No. 25 John street.

J. to the public and to the gentlemen of the medical profession, for the liberal parronage bestowen on his establishment, which has been in successful speration upwards or eleven years. As the limits of a newspaper acvertisement precludes the possibility of giving an analytical detail of the medicinal virtues of the Vajor Bath, he bees leave merely to state that it has been found a safe though powerful remedy to all the following diseases, cultures and the following diseases, rule matism, gout, incipient cancerous tumeors, diseases of the Joints, cajarrhal complaints, croup, affections of the liver, asthma, sudden colds, fever and ague, scarlet fever, &c. &c. &c.

I have on several occasions visited the Vaport Bath Establishment in John street, conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Carroll, and have entirely satisfied myself that the Baths are administered there with skill and attention.

I can cheerfully state that I have found the Baths in John street well attended to, and every comfort of the patient constited,

I have been for many years in the habit of sending patients to Mr. and Mrs. Carroll's Vaper Bath in John street, and have frequently taken them myseft. Upon all occasions I had reason to be satisfied with the skill with which they were administered; and I believe in this respect Mr. and Mrs. Carroll's application of the Vapor Baths to my patients in this city, and preference to the vapor Baths to my patients in this city, and preference to the patients of the day. We fully concur in the above statements.

sap, and of the causes which stop its circulation in the intercer-islar spaces, which all communicate together, so as to form the capitlary tube so infinitely divided. The sap does not circulate in all hair with the same facility. In most hair, of which the vessels are but little developed, it sperates slowly, because toe tube itself being continually filled with it, anniti-lates the perspiration; then the ascending effect cannot take place but by the application of Grandjean's Composition, which in a few days only, will pentrate through the hair to the roots.

which in a few days only, will pentrate through the hair to the roots.

The ascending power varies then not only according to the quality of the tube, but also to the way of using this Composition which ought to be employed every sight before returning it is easy then to conceive that during the sleep, the surface of the skin on the head produces an evaporation, often very abundant; the sap, which in some degree is in relation with that phenomenon, rapidly ascends. The result is very easy to state. The friction that has been made before sleep, refresheasan repairs the skin on the head, then the growth continues as naturally as ever; while by employing this Composition in the morning only, the results can only be uncertain, since the pores of the skin are closer, and consequently in a disposition quite unfavorable for receiving from this Composition all its salutary effects.

BALDNESS.

It must and does receive the pre-eminence, and surpasses all that has yet been employed for the treatment of the hair. One bottle of it ought to be counted among the necessary articles which should be purchased by all parents, for it preserves the roots, prevents failing, strengthens by its rich and generous stimulaints the weakest hair, gives to all sorts of hair admirable softness, justre and fineness, and keeps it in a great measure from becoming gray, it is an extraordinary specific to erase from the skin on the head at that pow dery sediment which so many persons complain of. It may be daily applied on the head of the aged, as well as the youngest child's.

The consistrable sale thereof, the repute and extension it daily receives, is a certain guarantre, and ough to banish all the fears that one creates in his own mind oncerning its efficacy. Each will receive with the bottle a treatise on the proper treatment of the hair.
